Vulcan Golf Club Away to Real Successful Season

Sunday was a record day on the links and it looks as though Vulcan golfers are going to have a successful season.

The following are some of the results in the President and Vice President competition:

Flood, A. J. (3 up) Simington, F. L. Burke, Dr. (12 up) Marshall, Jas. Collier, E. C. (12 up) Daines, H. Clark, R. (4 up) Wright, Bill Wright, L. A. (4 up) Allen, W. D. Picken, E. K. (1 up) Maber, H. J. Green, Roy (5 up) Barker, Dr. McAskile, P. (draw) Johnson, A. Brunton, J. N. (1 up) Jones, Lyle

Roy Greene turned in the lowest score recording 80 for eighteen holes.

Next Sunday Staveland and Claresholm will visit Vulcan and the President requests that all members be at the first tee at twelve o'clock. Ladies who wish to play will please advise the secretary as soon as possible.

Might we remind the members who have not yet paid their fees that money is needed to place the course in shape before the year is too far advanced.

KIRKCALDY NEWS

On Friday last the Kirkcaldy softball diamond was the scene of another real game. The visiting team was from Vulcan being sponsored by Mr. Fletcher. However our "crack" team carried off the victory, the score being 6 to 2.

Sunday was the occasion of many fish stories. Three of our gentlemen motored to Lake McGregor in high spirits. One young man in particular was seen swimming in the water chasing the fish toward another who literally scooped them out. Another was feeling quite jubilant as he ran along the lake shore holding a small fish in his hands showing the result of his first fishing trip. Of course we all know fish stories and this is certainly a true one.

On the evening of Friday, May 29, fourteen young people gathered together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Maisey. The gathering was held in honor of Miss Margaret Roebuck our June bride-elect. Miss Doris Laurie acted as bride and Miss Elva Mallory represented the bridegroom. Together they presented Miss Margaret with a wagon load of dainty parcels wishing her also, a wagonload of joy. She was the recipient of many useful and pretty gifts and thanked all for them kindly. Much thanks was given to Mrs. Maisey who sponsored the shower. The rest of the evening was spent in playing cards. After a dainty lunch the party broke up after a thoroughly enjoyable evening.

The Kirkcaldy W. L. met at the home of Mrs. W. Maisey on Thursday, May 28. Mrs. Boose presided. There were five members and four visitors present. Mrs. H. Todd acted as secretary. The meeting opened with the repeating of the creed. The minutes were then read and approved. The business was short and soon disposed of. Mrs. A. T. Martin, our constituency convenor was then called upon to give us a report of the annual conference held at Edmonton. She dwelt chiefly on the financial question and the passing of the resolutions. Indeed it was a talk everyone enjoyed thoroughly. A hearty vote of thanks was then given Mrs. Martin for her splendid version of the conference. The meeting adjourned and an enjoyable afternoon was brought to a close with a dainty lunch served by the hostess.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

Miss Garnet Letorneau was a High River visitor on Wednesday, May 27 with her cousin, Miss Roseland Sims. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stagg of Calgary, were visitors in Vulcan last week, at the home of their son, Mr. C. Stagg.

The ladies of the C.W.L. are holding a rose tea and bake sale in the basement of the Catholic church, Saturday, June 6th from 3 to 6 p.m.

Mrs. Joe Loisele left the other week for Winnipeg with Baby Gerald Loisele where he will undergo treatment in the Shriners' hospital.

Messrs. F. E. Atkinson and A. J. Kennedy attended the Elk's convention at Calgary last week as delegates from Vulcan Lodge, No. 121.

Fish stories have started again. Several local enthusiasts have reported seeing extra large ones; and of course these couldn't be landed; but nevertheless they came home with a fry.

Mr. T. B. Sims, who has been an employee of the Jenkins' Groceries at this point for the past few years, has been transferred to the Nanton branch of the same firm. Mr. Geo. Wycherly, well known citizen, has accepted the position thus vacated.

The high school boys' baseball team is very active these days and deserves the support of the entire community. They are sponsoring a picture at the local playhouse this week end, the proceeds thus gained will be used for the financing of the team and for the paying for their snappy baseball suits that arrived the other day. We are waiting expectantly for their first appearance in these new uniforms.

The Reid Hill boys and girls motored to Milo en masse on Saturday last to play a game of baseball and softball as well as indulge in foot racing and jumping, and it proved a real sporty day. The Reid Hill boys played the Mayview boys at baseball and came out on the long end of the score then the Reid Hill girls played a game of softball with the Arrowwood girls team and they too finished at the top; after this everybody entered in the other sports with good fellowship. It proved a most pleasant afternoon. Lack of space prevents a more detailed account.

At 11:30 o'clock last Saturday evening the shrill whistle of the siren calling the fire engine and brigade to the scene of a fire near the skating rink, being a house the property of Mrs. Nan Tanguen. The brigade must be complimented on their quick action, for on arrival the house was a mass of flames which were quickly extinguished. Mrs. Tanguen, who resides in Calgary, was in town on business and staying at the house for a few days. The cause of the fire is unknown. No insurance was carried.

FINE BAND CONCERT

The band concert held in the Okotoks Park last Sunday by the Vulcan Citizens' Band, under the auspices of the local Elks' Lodge, was largely attended and a splendid program given. About 800 people were present in the park many coming from Vulcan, Brant, Blackie, High River, Turner Valley and Black Diamond.

The bandmen were entertained at lunch in the Elks' hall after the concert by the local Elks while a great many picnic parties remained in the park until a late hour. The entire collection amounting to about $37 was turned over to the band to help them to attend the band competition at the Calgary Stampede this year. The weather turned out to be ideal and the wind blowing in the earlier part of the day was not noticed in the park. The band may pay a return visit at a later date.—Okotoks Review.

LOCAL ENTRIES AT MUSICAL FESTIVAL

Vulcan United Church junior choir journeyed by auto on Wednesday last to take part in the Provincial Musical Festival at Lethbridge, and although they did not gain honors they put up a good fight against the city choirs with years of experience. This being the first appearance of the local vocalists in contest work, the vastness of the hall, and their eagerness to win, made them a little lacking in intonation but their interpretation of the numbers was excellent, and great praise is due to their conductor, Mrs. A. E. White, for the manner in which she led them, and all should be encouraged by the fact that the winners of today are the losers of yesterday and that it is only experience that makes winners.

The two junior soloists, Master Bill Weale and Miss Ruth Peterson, also put up a good showing in two of the best classes in the festival; there were twenty-six competitors in each of the classes and only just a couple of points separated the locals from the winners, the experienced singers again gaining the prizes.

Last, but by no means least, comes our famous soprano, Miss Hartwig, who also for the first time entered the festival contest, and in a difficult section, namely "Dramatic," came second to the province's greatest dramatic sopranos; undoubtedly she could have done better in other sections of the soprano contest. Bravo! Miss Hartwig.

We hope that the efforts of these competitors will be an incentive for others to compete for provincial honors.

Vulcan Town Council Regular Meeting

The town council met in the office on Monday, June 1, with Mayor Butchart in the chair and Councillors Anderson, McLaggan, Johnston, King and Allan present; the secretary-treasurer, Mr. A. J. Flood was also in attendance.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Informal discussion took place as to premises available for health unit and communications were read as to the operation of this utility.

An offer from the C.P.R. re the purchase of lots in town was declined. An application for old age pension was recommended on motion of Councillor King.

Accounts were discussed, including revision of the insurance rate on fire equipment, and the Mayor appointed Councillors Allan and King to take the matter up with Mr. Stack. Other accounts were passed for payment on motion of Councillor McLaggan.

Mr. William Watt complained of the offensive odor from an oil station adjacent to his residence, and on motion of Mr. King it was decided to write the provincial health department on the matter.

Mr. Charles Ottewill asked the assistance of the council regarding out-of-town soliciting for the cleaning and pressing of clothing, and the mayor spoke of the difficulty in dealing with this. On the motion of Councillor King the department will be asked what steps may be taken.

It was decided, on motion of Councillor Allan, that the next regular meeting of the council take place on June 29—on this occasion the court of revision will be held.

Constable Fletcher presented his accounts which were accepted.

The Mayor appointed Councillor Johnston to see to the watering of the trees in town.

The meeting then adjourned.

NEON ADVERTISING AT THE IMPERIAL HOTEL

We have noticed with interest that a large neon sign, of a modernistic type has been installed on the roof of the Imperial Hotel. This is the first sign of its kind to appear in Vulcan and can be seen for a great distance at night and is in keeping with the many modern improvements that have been made in the Imperial Hotel during the past year.

There are many interesting facts about a sign of this type. The neon gas, which is present in such minute quantities in the atmosphere, that a good sized roomful of air will yield only about a test tube full of the gas, is used to fill the glass tubes. There are electrodes at each end of the glass tubes, and when a very high voltage (in this case 14,000 volts) is passed through the gas, it is made to glow red, giving a soft light. There is no mechanical connection in these tubes, as some people may think. The high voltage is furnished through a step up transformer inside the sign.

This type of sign has rapidly become one of the most popular forms of advertising, because, unlike many other electrical signs, it is very cheap to operate. This sign consumes actually less than 100 watts, or the approximate consumption of the average light bulb. A glimpse of Eighth Avenue, Calgary, at night will show one how popular these signs have become.

The sale of this sign was made by T. S. Newby of the local Calgary Power Company, Merchandise Dept.

About fifty ladies and gentlemen enjoyed a very pleasant evening in playing bridge and whist, after which the ladies served lunch.

Mr. G. C. Collier, on behalf of the parish, presented Mr. Kemp with an electric clock as a small token of esteem and good will, and expressed the best wishes of the congregation for the departing rector in his new sphere of work.

Mr. D. C. Jones also spoke appropriately, after which Mr. Kemp replied in his usual happy manner.

Another Drowning Fatality at Lake McGregor Sunday

G. Tarum, 45 years old, and Henry Olson, of the Milo district, were drowned when the raft from which they were fishing was upset by a swell in Lake McGregor on Sunday.

The tragedy occurred at 3 o'clock. The lake serves irrigation canals, and the dam is about a mile from Milo, the lake being 20 miles long.

The accident occurred about one mile from the north end of the lake at "The Point." Olson and Charles Tarum pushed the raft out some distance from the shore while the others in the party, John Norman, Göttrum Tarum and Selwain Slater, fished from the bank.

Towards 3 o'clock a strong wind blew up, causing waves on the lake, and a moment later the raft capsized. Tarum, Norman and Slater dropped fishing tackle and swam out to the capsized raft.

G. Tarum swam toward Olson, but apparently the other had lost self-control momentarily, and with a few moments, after both had been struggling fiercely, both Olson and Tarum sank and were drowned.

Meanwhile, Norman had managed to catch hold of C. Tarum and as he reached the surface, Slater gave assistance. Together they brought the boy to shore.

Olson and Tarum went down in about 16 feet of water. Despite the fact that all three knew where the accident occurred, it was not until about 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening that the bodies of Olson and Tarum were recovered.

Dr. G. H. Farquharson, coroner, of Gleichen, who, with Constable A. Hattis, Alberta Provincial Police, investigated the tragedy and aided in recovering the bodies, stated that no inquest would be held.

Both victims were residents of the district for many years. Olson was predeceased a month ago by his son.

LOOKING THEM OVER

Both American and Canadian publications have been recording with wrath or regret, Mr. G. K. Chesterton's comments on the villages of the New World. One quotation strikes hard: "The first things you see are yellow tin advertisements, then tin buildings, then wooden buildings, then framework of lead and glass and tin called shops—and then, thank God, you are out of the town."

Despite indignation, there is a measure of truth in his comment, and although he did not visit Canada, his words would apply with equal truth to the newer Canadian villages. We have oftentimes heard a somewhat similar comment from our own people returning to Canada after visits in Europe.

In particular, many of our soldiers returning after the war, spoke of the carelessness and untidiness, the large disregard for artistic appearance that was so apparent to anyone travelling across the continent, after a years in the old land.

However what Mr. Chesterton does not dwell upon, is that these are new villages in the making, built out of the soil, and that the first care has been for matters of health, sanitation and lighting. He does not realize that a consciousness of the desirability of beauty is awakening and that the public mind is turning, definitely away from mere utility to a higher art of beautification.

In the New York Times, he strikes a different note, going deeper than appearances into the spirit of Main Street. He says: "I prefer Main Street to the views of those who decry it and would obliterate it. In other words if I were forced to choose between being a Methodist real estate agent in Gopher Prairie, or an artist or atheist in Greenwich village, I would choose to be a real estate agent. Because simple people may be at the beginning of beauty, whereas sophisticated people have come to the end of beauty and the end of everything."

This is the truth. There is the dawning of a realization of beauty, and people are beginning to see the rawnesses and crudities. But instead of being discouraged, with characteristic vigor, they are attacking their own weaknesses.

What Mr. Chesterton does unequivocally approve is the very real equality and fraternity which exist in America. He says: "It is strictly true that any Englishman of any liberality does feel a certain kind of fresh air from which a certain smell has departed." He instances this with the story of a lecture in a university town, at which a professor and the professor's chauffeur both approached him to refer to a certain speech. He says: "There was absolutely no difference in the approach, gesture, tone or carriage of either man. Neither was aggressive, neither apologetic. They were both natural. That sort of thing is nearly impossible in England."

"There is a great quality of truth and candor, a memory of brotherhood, an assumption of manhood that is not quite broken even by the materialism which is the burden of America and the modern world."

THE FOUNTAIN HEAD

They have been discussing domestic problems at Ottawa, and the cost of living. Some embarrassing questions have been asked regarding the expenses of certain members of the late government. There has been a delving into the question of hired help and borrowed furniture and so on.

Governments are no doubt as prone to careless expenditure in prosperous times, as we are as individuals. They are apt to adopt a large and lavish attitude to the care of themselves, with the conviction that the masses of this Dominion want their Ottawa representatives to live well.

This is usually true of all parties in eras of good times. Without being dishonest they feel that they owe it to their country to "do themselves well," and naturally the expense sheets are not scrutinized as critically as when poverty pinches.

It is some satisfaction to know that they are now discussing the possibility of getting along with a little less domestic help, and if everybody watches everybody else and talks out in the House of Commons about it, the result may be quite healthy for the Exchequer.

It would be rather a fine thing if Ottawa would set an example of simplicity both in formal and unofficial functions to the rest of the country. There would be less feeling that it is the headquarters of language and luxurious living.

After all, if one were speaking critically of our parliamentary representatives, it must be admitted that some of them do cost the country more than they appear to be worth. The majority of members are no doubt earnestly seeking to do their best for the country. Some are even studying problems relating to economic and social betterment and have at every session something constructive to offer. But quite a few regard their office merely as a comfortable berth, and the country would move along quite as smoothly if they were painlessly removed from the House of Parliament. The machinery of government costs too much, and this does not mean motor cars only.

CALL TO YOUTH

Hon. Frank Oliver's message to the young graduates of the University of Alberta, is a message to all young Albertans.

"The best the province could do for you in the matter of education has been done."

"There is no national monopoly of knowledge. It is current coin circulating freely in all countries. But Canadian universities as well as common schools are organized and maintained, not only for the advantage of Canadians individually, but rather with the great objective of the upbuilding of Canada. We carry on the shoulders of our 10,000,000 responsibility for the material development of half a continent."

But still more we have the responsibility of maintaining within our far-flung borders the cultural ideals of the highest and most progressive civilization the world has yet seen.

"We are proud to see our graduates win distinction in far distant fields, but we do need them all and more in this country in which most of them had birth."

ON THE UP AND UP

"As is usually the case, the business community of this country can't satisfy itself unless it is beating month by month records of preceding years." This is the observation of David Lawrence, editor of the United States Daily Washington, in addressing U. S. business men over the radio recently. The same thing is equally true of Canada and Lawrence's speech is applicable to everyone. He continues: "Quotas are keyed up every twelve months above what they were and the new mark is then set as the standard. Then when an off color year happens, the business world lets itself go into a frenzy, and this increases month by month, till it stops all constructive effort and finally everyone is in the midst of a slump, the origin of which is really within ourselves and no place else."

"If everyone could and would hold a steady keel by forgetting that the present year is not the best yet, they would the better be free to realize that business is in pretty good shape after all."

"It is too much to expect that every year shall be a bigger one, than the last biggest one, but that is exactly what most people do expect."

"As a matter of fact 1930, though assumed to be a rotten year, was not an extremely poor one, even compared with 1929. The biggest trouble was that the average business man was geared to the unusual activity of 1929, and had a severe, mental, if not material, let down in 1930, since as usual he was expecting in 1930 to beat his old record."

"When things didn't pan out and there was curtailment of buying instead of increase, he could not adapt himself mentally but got panicky."

"As a matter of fact the total dollar volume of business in 1930 in practically all lines shows quite a sizeable record, with a quite tremendous turnover and a savings deposit increase mounting to unheard of figures."

"If people would appreciate this fact, instead of weeping and wailing, there would probably be more business, less unemployment, and certainly not so much business failure. In other words everyone could keep the belly ache from becoming a cramp. And that applies to this and to succeeding years."

TAKING A CUT

The suggestion made recently that all salaries be cut from that of the governor-general down through all the government service, brings up a much discussed question. Would our government leaders be in the positions they are in today if there were less attractive salary awards, or is everybody, great and small, working for money?

The opinion is often expressed that our lives are money ridden. From school days onward we are dominated by the desire to get money and our success in life is estimated by our financial worth rather than by any service we may have rendered.

To what extent the money god reigns, is a question. It is doubtful if it holds any great place amongst parliamentary leaders. Few Canadian Parliamentarians have died rich, few have passed out of office as financially strong as when they entered. There is little doubt that if they worked for money, their services in the business world would command a much greater remuneration than that which they get as representatives of the people.

Any governmental centre however, is an expensive place in which to live. There are ceaseless drains in the way of entertainment and formalities which are little realized. If all salaries were cut, from the governor-general down, it would no doubt mean a restriction on much of the meaningless social fripperies and would meet with little protest from those involved. It is quite possible that a drastic move toward personal economy in Ottawa might set a healthy example to the country. Lavish display of wealth should not go hand in hand with poverty, in a democratic country, and there is nothing to justify such extremes.

It is quite possible that many of the more highly paid officials at Ottawa who know that there are people in need would sleep more easily if their salaries were cut to a bare maintenance basis.

It would be an evidence of their recognition of national conditions and would be a practical move that would commend itself to all. And it is quite safe to say that it would not reduce in the least on their working hours.

No union rules control them, and their efforts would be quite as conscientious as if they were getting a million a year.

WATCH FOR BREAKS

To those who have not yet found their appointed niche in life to those who wonder if they ever will find it and to those who have not found any niche of any sort, the story of Edgar Rice Burroughs, the creator of the "Tarzan" books, will make interesting reading.

Before he invented Tarzan, Edgar Rice Burroughs tried to be a cowboy, school teacher, storekeeper, soldier, gold digger, policeman, time keeper, salesman, accountant, bookkeeper, pencil sharpener agent, bill collector, and so on through a most extraordinary course of occupations.

His fortunes fluctuated through all these breadwinning jobs. Sometimes he had no job at all, and fell back to domestic labors, doing the family wash and patching the family shoes. Finally, he started to write because he needed the money—His thrilling, utterly unbelievable yarns caught on, and he continued carrying Tarzan on to wilder and wilder fields of accomplishment. Without any prescribed rule for success, he discovered what the public liked and fed it out in large and profitable doses.

The HARVESTER-THRESHER SAVINGS INVESTMENT

Plan

Makes It Easy For You to Own a McCormick-Deering Harvester Thresher

Under This New Plan Every Responsible Grain Grower Can Pay for His McCormick-Deering Out of a Part of the Savings His Combine Will Make

CROP production cost figures compiled by McCormick-Deering Harvester-Thresher users show savings of from 15 to 20 cents a bushel as compared to the binder method of harvesting.

We are so confident that thousands of Canadian grain growers can make proportionate savings with a McCormick-Deering Harvester-Thresher that we have announced the McCORMICK-DEERING HARVESTER-THRESHER SAVINGS INVESTMENT PLAN. By taking advantage of this plan you or any responsible grain grower can purchase a combine now and pay practically all the cost out of the savings you will effect during the next three harvests.

Under this plan you get a time-tried and time-tested combine backed by 18 years of field experience. The details of the plan have been given to all McCormick-Deering dealers. Go to the dealer in your town and ask him about it, or write directly to us if you prefer.

BEAUHARNOIS INVESTIGATION

Huge Power Interests Come Under Critical Eye of Parliamentary Body

Although Western Canada is far from the centre of Beauharnois operations, yet the people of the prairies are no less interested than those of the East in following the operations of this great Eastern Power Company.

Last year, the farmer members at Ottawa were most outspoken in their charges against the company. This year, through their spokesman, Mr. Robert Gardiner, they again insist in dragging all agreements and relations into the open. Hon. R. B. Bennett has announced that a thorough investigation will be carried on.

Mr. Gardiner charged fraud, misrepresentation and improper dealings in connection with activities of the project. It was also implied that one Senator at least was involved in the business, and that powers of Quebec might not be invulnerable.

Another complication entered when it was suggested that the probe was being spurred on by a company in rivalry with Beauharnois interests.

Mr. Gardiner fears that the Corporation plans to secure the entire flow of the St. Lawrence, and this brings up the question of provincial or Dominion control of water power on navigable streams. The advocates of government ownership view with alarm any serious encroachment of private interests on the people's rights.

Mr. Bennett stated that he had investigated the Beauharnois purposes last summer and the interim report which he received lead him to believe that the project might be water a certain portion of the St. Lawrence.

The inquiry may be held before a special committee which will present its findings before the close of parliament. This will probably prolong the session as it is considered by all parties to be of major concern.

CENSUS RETURNS A BOOK OF LIFE

Sum Total of Facts to be Learned in June Will Give Government Fund of Information

When the census questions are filled in and returned to the government there will be a wealth of vital information in the hands of statisticians. These should furnish a lead in industrial and agricultural development and particularly in the matter of unemployment.

To reach an estimate of those employed in seasonal occupations, and their term of employment, a questionnaire asks: If you are an employee: (1) Were you at work on Monday, June 1st, 1931? If the answer is no, the reason will be asked (a) no job; (b) sickness; (c) on holidays; (d) strike; (e) plant closed; other reasons.

(2) Have you been out of work for any cause in the last 12 months? If the answer is "yes" you will be asked: How many weeks were you out of work and of these how many were due to (a) no job; (b) illness; (c) accident; (d) strike; (e) temporary lay off; (f) other reasons.

It is understood that these returns are to be forwarded with all possible promptness to the department, there to be compiled and arranged.

This should give a fairly accurate idea of the numbers regularly employed, those periodically employed and those totally unconnected with any special industry or occupation. It will show the artisans and mechanics of the country and how many have suffered under the slump of business.

It will show those in clerical positions who have been thrown out of employment.

It will show those engaged in seasonal employment and how long these periods of work continue.

It will also indicate the stability of industry in general, and just how many people are self-supporting, and how many are likely to continue as wards of the public.

HOW MONTHS AND DAYS WERE NAMED

All Have Their Origin in Pagan Beliefs and Lore

Children at school learn to name the days of the week and the months of the year, without perhaps wondering who ever named so and why.

Sunday recalls the Sun worshippers who believed the Sun God to be all powerful.

Monday was named in honor of the moon, lest it would feel slighted.

Tuesday was so named to please Livi the war God of the Saxons.

Wednesday was named for Woden or Odin, chief of the God of the Saxons.

Thursday for the Thunder God, Thor.

Friday is named for gentle Erig, wife of God Woden.

Saturday is named for the Roman God Saturn.

The months were named before the calendar was changed, in the age when the year began in the spring-time.

January was named for Janus, the two-faced Roman God, who looked backward and forward, which is very fitting for that month.

February took its name from the Feast of Februa or Purification which was a Roman observance falling on the 15th of the month.

March is so fierce that it was of course the child of the War God Mars.

April comes from the Latin "aperio" which means to open or soften.

May was dedicated to Maia, the mother of the winged God Mercury.

June the month of roses, was in honor of the fair Goddess Juno, queen of them.

July takes its name from Julius Caesar, whose birthday was in that month.

August named for Emperor Augustus.

September, under the old calendar which began the year in March, was the seventh month, therefore Sept.

October is derived from octo or eight.

November comes from novem, meaning nine.

December which was originally the tenth month and not the twelfth, comes from the Latin decim, or ten. —Lethbridge Herald.

SCHOOL DAYS

Uncle (to his nephews): "Well, boys, how are you getting on at school?" Ted: "I'm first in history." Jim: "I'm first in spelling." Uncle: "And what are you first in, Leonard?" Leonard: "I'm first in the street when it's time to go home."

Bush and forest fires are raging for a strip of 100 miles northwest of Edmonton.

A FISH STORY

This may be a fish story, but it is a true story. From an oyster bed of 600 acres in a little bay in Prince Edward Island, which is only one-fifth of the whole area and taking only one quarter of the maximum yield there is an annual yield of 1,200,000 barrels of oysters, representing a return of $10,000,000 and these oysters have won the reputation of being the finest in the world.

MACHINES WILL NOT OBEY

Russian Failure to Turn Out Tractors in Great Numbers Discouraging Blow

It is predicted that American machinery may yet prove the undoing of the Russian five-year plan.

The failure of the tractor plant at Stalingrad which was scheduled to turn out 30,000 tractors has been a blow. At very high cost it succeeded in turning out only 3,150. Says the Moscow Pravda:

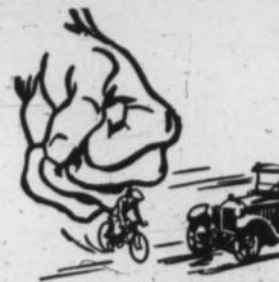

"American machinery proves to be helpless when the system of work is not adapted to it, when it is driven senselessly.

"The technical equipment is American, but our system of work is rotten.

"All is hustle at the plant, but no one is responsible for each given part of the process. The result is that more time is spent looking for information than at work.

"This Russian paper claims that for every 100 usable articles made, the factory produces 250 that can't be used.

"Some of the engineers and administrators have lost their nerve. They are panic stricken over the difficulties of manufacturing on a huge scale.

ANNOUNCING THE APPOINTMENT OF A NEW FORD DEALER

IN VULCAN, ALBERTA

Mr. A. S. Love, having purchased the garage and business of Pyramid Motors Ltd., will continue with the Ford contract. A carload of New Models are now on display in our garage and Mr. Love is extending a cordial invitation to the public to come and see these New 1931 Models.

WE TAKE PLEASURE in announcing a new Ford dealer in this territory. The appointment is in keeping with the established Ford policy of rendering thoroughly satisfactory service to Ford owners throughout all sections of Canada.

The Ford service policy is founded on the belief that a sale does not complete the transaction between us and the buyer but establishes a new obligation on us to see that the car gives good service. We are as much interested in your economical operation of the car as you are in our economical manufacture of it.

Every Authorized Ford Dealer has pledged himself to the carrying out of this policy. Throughout the entire life of the car, the constant endeavor will be to help you get the greatest possible use over the longest period of time at a minimum of trouble and expense.

The mechanics of all Ford dealers are thoroughly trained in schools conducted by the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, and they use tools and machinery made specially for servicing the Ford car. When replacements are necessary, the parts used are identical in size and quality with those from which your car was originally assembled in the Ford factory. The charge for these parts is low, in accordance with the Ford policy. Labor on all ordinary maintenance operations is billed at a standard flat rate. No matter what the job—large or small—you will find the Ford dealer equipped to handle it for you promptly, at a fair price, and in an intelligent, businesslike manner. The well-ordered cleanliness of the display room and shop and the consistent courtesy of all attendants will be especially appreciated by the lady driver.

The Beauharnois Power Project has again been brought up in Parliament by Robert Gardiner, leader of Progressives. The airing will do good.

Will Rogers has refused an honorary degree of D.D. or something that some University wanted to confer on him. That shows the same sense of fitness as some Canadians displayed when they refused a title.

With the big surplus of teachers the A.T.A. is calling attention to the ruling of the Educational Department which states that it is unlawful to teach for less than $840 per year, unless by mutual agreement between the board and inspector and department. The A.T.A. offers to act as middle man in the minimum salary question, but warns against under-bidding.

The U.F.W.A. entertained lady members of the Kirkdale and Reid Hill locals on Wednesday, May 27th at the home of Mrs. Mensinger Sr., over forty ladies being present. After a short business session, the program opened with an interesting and comprehensive talk by Mrs. Roy Adams on the aims of the Accredited Poultry Association, and the suggested plan of forming a Pool in the fall of this year, in the Reid Hill and Berrywater district. The two contests, making of tiny paper hats and titles and characters in Shakespeare's works provided very amusing. Mrs. Edginton and Mrs. Muson, Miss Willa Carr and Mrs. McRoberts being the first and second prize winners. The musical and vocal items given by Mrs. Syngie, Mrs. McRoberts, and Mrs. Adams were much enjoyed. The main idea of the afternoon's program was based on the Life and Works of the Indian Canadian poetess, Pauline Johnson and one of her books, "The Cattle Thief," was enacted by the Berrywater members, the performance taking place outdoors. The tepees, Indians and Canadian gentlemen, all in costume, were very realistic. Mrs. F. Mensinger, as an Indian maiden, introduced the play with a short description of Pauline Johnson's life and works, and Mrs. Clifford Love quoted from memory the whole recitative of the play. The roll call was answered with extracts from Pauline Johnson's works. Lunch was served by the hostess and members and the hearty singing of a closing song brought to a close the first "entertaining" meeting of the season. Will members please note the next meeting is to be at Mrs. McLehn's, Milo, on Monday June 15th.

There is no disputing that Canadian magistrates give very peculiar decisions. But American magistrates slip a little at odd times too. Down in Illinois a woman took offense at the way her husband reacted when she tried to make him eat spinach, so she called in the police. When he went into court the magistrate ordered him to go home and eat spinach and learn to like it, and not be saucy to his wife any more.
